Era Living's number one priority during the coronavirus pandemic has been helping to protect our residents and staff. To help keep our communities safe, we have had to cancel our usual in-person resident activities. We are incredibly grateful for our dedicated and passionate Life Enrichment teams, who have found find new and creative ways to keep our residents engaged.

The following list shows examples of the types of activities currently offered across our eight different communities.

- Balcony sing-alongs and entertainment
- Special programming broadcast to resident apartments (including TED talks, symphony concerts, educational lectures, and exercise videos)
- Weekly book club (hosted through Zoom)
- Snack carts, ice cream, and happy hour delivered straight to residents' apartments
- Community arts and crafts projects
